

Russian scientists discover new features of magnetic liquids that may improve medicine. TASS

Researchers from Peter the Great Saint Petersburg Polytechnic University (SPbPU) have uncovered new special characteristics in the behavior of magnetic liquids, the SPbPU's press service said. When covered with medical drugs, the magnetic particles will take charge of delivering pharmaceuticals to a specific organ or system of the body.

More: TASS

Дата публикации: 2017.01.17

>>Перейти к новости

>>Перейти ко всем новостям