

Professional Retraining in Construction now with Qualification Assignment

For the first time, the presentation of graduate qualification works of the students of the retraining course programs developed according to the "Construction Organizer" and "Construction organization manager" professional standards was held in the center of additional professional programs of the Institute of Civil Engineering. This year the students got a chance to receive not only up-to-date knowledge and expertise, required on the construction market, but also a new qualification.

Professional retraining programs have been successfully implemented in the Center of Additional Professional Programs since 2004. During this time, more than 1000 people received a new major in the Institute of Civil Engineering. The modern and convenient manner of the programs allows the students to receive a new major, while combining education with professional activity.

The graduates also noted high professionalism of the professors of the Center of Additional Professional Programs of the Institute of Civil Engineering, as well as the practical orientation of the program and the opportunity to receive knowledge according to the needs of the students.
