

SPbPU at the exhibition in Tashkent: How to choose a profession of the future and enter a leading technical university

The 27th International Exhibition «Education and Profession 2025» was held in Uzbekistan. The country's largest international educational event was organized by the Agency for Youth Affairs, the Ministry of Preschool and School Education of the Republic of Uzbekistan and the My Fair company with the support of Rossotrudnichestvo and the National Bank of Uzbekistan. The event, which covered 12 cities of the country, gathered a record for Central Asia 100 universities from 15 countries. Polytechnic University took part in the exhibition in the city of Tashkent.

The International Exhibition «Education and Profession 2025» is a unique opportunity for applicants, students and young professionals to look into the future of their career. Here you can learn about university and college entrance requirements, scholarships and grants that make education more accessible, as well as the professions that will define the labor market in a few years — from IT development and bioengineering to sustainable development and digital art. Experts from leading universities reveal directly at the exhibition what skills are critical today: for example, the ability to work with data, adapt to change, manage a team or solve interdisciplinary problems.

Dilnozakhon Kattakhanova, deputy head of the Agency for Youth Affairs, emphasized the significance of the event: More than 100 universities are more than 100 opportunities for self-realization, discovering potential and choosing a worthy education. Young people will be able to contribute to the development of science, technology and all spheres of life in the country.

Head of Rossotrudnichestvo in Uzbekistan Irina Staroselskaya emphasized the importance of choice: Young people can choose not only a university, but also a country and a sphere of studying. The main thing is that education should bring pleasure — after all, we spend most of our lives at work. Let the choice be conscious!

During two days of the exhibition, the stand of St. Petersburg Polytechnic University was visited by more than 1700 high school students from Uzbekistan who are considering the possibility of studying in Russia. The main audience were final year students, who studied in detail the prospects of enrolling in Russian universities.

Representatives of SPbPU — leading advertising manager of the Center for International Recruitment and Communications Zhanna Trunkova and specialist of the Department for Work with Foreign Students Evgenia Borodina — held individual consultations for the guests. They explained in detail the conditions of enrollment, the range of available educational programs, as well as options of scholarship and financial support for international students of the university.

Thanks to the event, Uzbek school students received information about scholarships, admission requirements and in-demand professions. The speakers unanimously expressed gratitude to the partners for their contribution to the organization of the largest educational project in the region.

International educational exhibitions help not only to get information, but also to immerse in a dialog with universities: personal consultations, career guidance tests and live communication with representatives allow you to match your interests with the real demands of the economy. This is a chance to rethink career goals, choose an educational path that matches both personal ambitions and global trends, as well as to start building a professional path without gaps in knowledge, emphasized the importance of such events Head of the International Education Department Evgeniya Sataalkina.
